The Griffin's was created in 1984 by Swiss nightclub impresario Bernard H. Grobet, who owned and operated the Griffin's Club. Word spread throughout Switzerland about the quality of his house cigar and it was introduced in the U.S. in 1989. The filler includes three different Cibao Valley tobaccos combined with a Dominican binder and Connecticut-seed wrapper to give it a mildly spicy, flavorful taste. The maduro-wrapped shapes debuted in 2000 and feature Connecticut Broadleaf for a more full-bodied flavor. Most shapes are offered in boxes of 25, or in 20s for the tubed shapes. The Griffinos are available in tins of ten.

Limited Editions of The Griffin's have also been produced:

| | | |
|-------|----------------------|--|
| 2004: | Special XX Edition | (5¼ x 52 in boxes of 20) |
| 2005: | Special XXI Edition | (5½ x 50 in glass tubes in boxes of 10) |
| 2006: | Special XXII Edition | (5½ x 50 perfecto in glass tubes in boxes of 10) |

HANDMADE CIGARS: BRAND LISTINGS

The 2005 Special XXI Edition features an Ecuadorian-grown wrapper, Mexican binder and Dominican-grown filler leaves while the 2006 uses all Dominican-grown tobaccos in a limited edition of 75,000 cigars.

THE GRIFFIN'S FUERTE

Handmade in Santiago, Dominican Republic.

These are high-quality cigars from Barrington House Premium Cigars in Kingston, Jamaica. The Connecticut wrapper surrounds either an Ecuadorian or Mexican binder and a combination of leaves from three nations to give this brand a rich flavor in boxes of 25. The Founder's Series features Jimmy Chang's blend for Macanudo prior to its acquisition by General Cigar in 1971. The Heritage Series is mild-to-medium in body and both are offered in vertical display boxes of 25.

The Gurkha brand has been around, in one form or another, since 1887. That's as long as the Gurkhas, a Nepalese tribe who fought for the British in World Wars I and II, have been around. The cigar brand started in 1989. The Estate Selection shows off a full-bodied flavor while the Grand Reserve shows a mild-to-medium body in bronze wax-sealed glass tubes offered in a vertical wood display, with a Connecticut wrapper, all Dominican filler and a light finish thanks to a touch of Louis XIII Cognac. The newer maduro-wrapped shapes use Connecticut Broadleaf wrappers, a little Honduran filler and have a medium-to-full-bodied flavor.

His Majesty's Reserve is one of the most expensive cigars anywhere with a list price of $7,500 per box of 20. It's medium-to-full in body. The Legend series was introduced in 2003 and has a full-bodied taste, thanks to a Connecticut Broadleaf wrapper. The Master's Select series also offers a full-bodied selection of elegant sizes with a Nicaraguan-grown Habana 2000 wrapper, available in numbered, varnished boxes of 25. The Regent was introduced in 2003 and features a Nicaraguan-grown, Habana 2000 wrapper and a medium-bodied taste in a box-pressed format offered in boxes of 20. The Royal Salute was originally introduced in 1992, with a Connecticut Broadleaf wrapper and a medium-to-full body in boxes of 22.

Speciality sizes in the Legend series were introduced in 2005 with The Beast (box of 35) and the Titan (36), limited to 1,000 boxes per year. The Special Editions include Black Beauty, a mild-to-medium blend with an Ecuadorian wrapper, Dominican binder and Nicaraguan filler (boxes of 25); Grand Age, medium-to-full in body with a Cameroon wrapper, Nicaraguan binder and Nicaraguan and Peruvian filler (50s), and Warlord, full-bodied, with a Nicaraguan wrapper and filler and Dominican binder (30s).

The G3 series was introduced in 2006 and is full in body while the Vintage Shaggy line also debuted in 2006 and is medium in body with an uncut foot.

The tinned cigars debuted in 2006 and are made in Esteli, Nicaragua in five blends: Dark Blend No. 8 (Connecticut maduro wrapper, mild-to-medium-bodied), Havana Select Blend No. 85 (Nicaragua wrapper, medium), Classic Blend No. 44 (Connecticut wrapper, mild-to-medium), Natural Light Blend No. 224 (Connecticut wrapper, mild-to-medium) and Mild Light Blend No. 967 (Connecticut wrapper, mild), all in tins of 10.
